We Helped our Neighbors Survive in 2025

Crises have a tendency to force individuals and societies to confront challenges, and in doing so, they can create space for innovation, adaptation, and positive transformation. Last year we had a theme of “Staying Alive in 2025”, but I had no idea of what challenges were ahead of us. Through the ups and downs, we held on tight, and rode the rollercoaster of uncertainties. Our main objective was to make sure our neighbors who needed extra food to curb their hunger pangs, or financial assistance to avoid an eviction, didn’t fall through the cracks. We are grateful for the many donors who supported us as we ran low on resources.

Feeding the Community through “The Market at Crossroads” is one of our most utilized resources that we provide to neighbors who find themselves in a challenging season. The groceries are given out free of charge as a means of grace and mercy toward our neighbors. We don’t want anyone to go hungry in the Estes Valley, and this is why we are constantly inviting others to join us in loving others as well as we love ourselves.
